ARTIST ZACH BROWN MEETS AND PRESENTS WORK TO COMIC, JERRY SEINFELD

CEDARHURST, NEW YORK, May 12, 2009 – Zach Brown, a seventeen year old, eleventh grade student at the D.R.S. high School for Boys, presented several works of art to comic, Jerry Seinfeld at a prearranged meeting with Mr. Seinfeld, during the shooting of a TV commercial in down town Cedarhurst, New York.

“I am delighted to have met with Mr. Seinfeld to discuss and present my work, specifically several drawings that I created of Mr. Seinfeld, including one next to a classic Porsche Speedster and one caricature of Mr. Seinfeld in his latest, film, “The Bee Movie”, said Zach.

Having been a Kids day staff artist for the past several years, as well as having his work published in dozens of publications, Zach has achieved a great deal of national and international notoriety. His trademarked characters, “The Do-Nots”, donut shaped nosed characters, “teaching valuable and tasty life lessons”, have been a hit with children and adults of all ages. Along with the personal drawings of Seinfeld, Zach also presented Mr. Seinfeld with a copy of his children’s book, “The Do-Nots” as well as “his and hers” t-shirts featuring The Do-Nots characters.

“I was thrilled to have Zach meet and talk with Mr. Seinfeld and present his work, said dad, Ari Brown. Several photos were taken of the two artists commemorating the event.
